A new coinage may be especially one with a restored coat of previous metal, or a new curl (like the Deutschmark) may be substituted for the old, or the denomination of the old currency may be divided by some factor, as the franc was divided by 100 to produce the nouveau franc in 1888. If measures may be necessitated with the old currency has become unusable, like the German Mark 1923, or they may be merely psychological significance.

SELF-STUDY REPORT AND FOLLOW-UP

To: All Faculty, Staff and Administrators

From: Helen Casher - Chairman of the Board and Chairman of the Steering Committee for Institutional Self-Study

Now that the External Evaluating Team has completed its visit, I have asked Don McEachern to distribute the Self-Study Report to each of the reporting self-study unit teams.

Unfortunately, costs prohibit distribution of copies to each member of faculty, staff and administration. We are, therefore, providing two copies to each unit team for circulation to members of the team and the unit.

Please study the report carefully as it will form an important part of our ongoing review process.

The Board and the Administration of the College are committed to a systematic follow-up of our self-study and the report of the External Team. Reg Pridham will be providing specific guidelines for the follow-up process.

On behalf of the Board of Douglas College, please accept my thanks for the considerable time and energy that so many of you committed to the self-study process to date. It is a valuable process which will contribute significantly to realizing our commitment to institutional renewal.

STUDENT ASSISTANT FUNDING

D.C. Staff, Faculty and Administrators are invited to apply for Student Assistant funding through the Ministry of Education's Work-Study Program for the summer semester. There are a limited number of Work-Study positions available, but if you have a project or job a student could do on campus and you are prepared to supervise, please submit your application by Mon., April 14, 1980, 4:30 p.m. to the Student Placement Office in N.W. Applications will not be accepted after this deadline. For applications and information call Student Placement at 521-4851, loc. 269 in N.W.
